COLORED PUGILISTS FIGHT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Pete Jackson, the Australian Champion, Defeats George Godfrey, a Boston "Coon." Tommy Warren Anxious to Fight "The Spider"—Races—Sporting News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Pete Jackson, the colored Australian champion, and George

Godfrey, the colored pugilist of Boston, met in a room of the California Athletic club Friday night. The fight was one of the most spirited ever seen in this city. Godfrey gave up the fight in the nineteenth round and Jackson was declared winner.

There was much interest in the fight and the rooms of the club were crowded when the men stepped into the ring. The contest was under the Marquis of Queensbury rules for a purse of $2,000. The great difference in size of the two men was noticeable when they faced each other in the ring. Jackson appeared to be three or four inches taller than his opponent and weighed thirty pounds more. In addition to this his long reach gave him an advantage which Godfrey could not overcome, and with execution the hard blows he aimed at the Australian fell short. Both men opened the fight with a rush, which was maintained till the close.

The only knock-down occurred in the second round when Jackson uppercuted his opponent and sent him to the floor. In the first ten rounds Jackson had gained a decided advantage, though Godfrey made him work hard.

In the last three rounds the punishment which Godfrey received was something terrible. Jackson rushed him around the ring and forced him against the ropes, all the time raining fearful blows upon his head, and trying in vain to beat him to the floor. Blood was flowing freely from Godfrey's face, and in the nineteenth round he saw no possibility of his returning the punishment and gave up the fight.

The fight was to have been ten rounds for $600 a side, but was stopped in the opening of the fourth round by Griffin, who administered a clean knock-out after giving a heavy punch in Moore's wind. The fight was a rattler from start to finish, the completed rounds being in Moore's favor. Griffin received considerable punishment, while Moore was not severely hurt.

DESTITUTE AND STARVING.
Southern Louisiana Flooded With Waters of the Gulf.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—The relief expedition which has returned from lower Terrebonne parish found over twelve hundred people there in a destitute and starving condition. The storm of last Sunday swept the waters of the gulf for a distance of twenty miles into the interior, the water rising from four to ten feet over the land. One hundred and twenty houses were swept away, not a plank being left behind. The people living in them sought refuge on the higher lands above.

The water was continued over all the Calion, Black Dulac and Terrebonne districts ever since, the continuous wind preventing its going down. The victims lost everything in the storm, their clothing, provisions, houses and all, and have been supported for the past five days by the charity of the storekeepers and by the police jury. The relief expedition distributed food and clothing among them.

In all the inundated district, covering probably four hundred square miles, not a head of stock of any kind has been left alive. The loss to the state is now estimated at between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Sixteen lives were lost.

TWO MORMON ELDERS

Believed to Have Been Murdered by Indignant Alabamians.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 27.—News comes from Clay county, in the eastern part of the state, of the mysterious disappearance and supposed murder of two Mormon elders—Davis and Weaver—who have been preaching in that section for some time. Mormon missionaries have been working in Clay county for about four years, and have made many converts.

Most of the converts made have been women, and they have been hurried off to Utah. A short time ago one of these converts wrote a letter from Salt Lake City to relatives in Clay county. The letter told a terrible story of the horrors of polygamy and the outrages to which the writer and other Alabama converts had been subjected.

This aroused the people of Clay county, and the Mormon elders were ordered to leave, but they refused to obey the order. The feeling against them among the better class of citizens was stirred to fever heat last Sunday by a baptizing conducted by Elders Davis and Weaver. It is said these elders took several converts of both sexes to a mill pond, and taking them into the water in a perfectly nude condition, immersed them in the presence of about fifty people. Monday night a body of masked men went to the house where Elders Davis and Weaver were boarding, and ordered them to leave the county within twenty-four hours. It is said the elders defied the crowd, and next morning started alone for the neighborhood of Lineville to hold services at the house of a convert, and since that time they have not been seen or heard of, but it is generally believed that they have been murdered and their bodies concealed by the indignant citizens of the county.

THE SONORA TRAIN ROBBERS.

The Leader to be Shot and the Others Imprisoned.

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 27.—J. J. Talier, alias Taylor, the leader of the gang that robbed the Sonora railroad at Aguazarcos in May last and killed Conductor Atkinson and Fireman Forbes, has had his trial at Guaymas, and been sentenced to be shot. Conrad Rohling, who was accessory, was sentenced to a term of five years in prison. The findings of the court, as is the custom, were forwarded to the supreme court at the City of Mexico and the officers of the lower court have just been notified that the sentence is approved. Just when Taylor will be executed is not known, as it is not the custom in Mexico to publicly set a time for the execution of a death sentence.

An Indiana Murder.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—At Nashville, Brown county, Friday, Frank and Elam Hall became involved in a political dispute with Jacob Peavey, aged sixty-five, a large powerful man. Peavey seized an ax and felled both his antagonists. Frank Hall's skull was crushed and he died instantly. His brother was mortally wounded. The old man fled and has not been captured. All were respected citizens.

A Texas Boiler Explosion.

BREMONT, Tex., Aug. 27.—The boiler in the cotton mills of James W. White exploded Friday, killing W. S. Wooton, and fatally wounding his two sons, John and Elias. Strumski, Denny Chambliss, Mat Rusby and Buck Walton were seriously injured. The mill was completely wrecked.

Henry George's Opinion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Referring to the president's message Henry George said that as approved of it, but that we should go further and practically annex Canada by the abolition of all tariff duties and thus let the influences that would quickly make us one people have free play.

A Noted Life Saver Dead.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Capt. Gilbert Long, the noted long distance swimmer, died here Friday, aged thirty-one. Seven years ago received a gold medal from congress for saving twenty-eight persons from drowning. During his life he has saved fifty-four lives.

THE STATE OF BUSINESS

AS GIVEN BY DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

A Better Feeling Prevails in All Sections.

Crop Prospects Continue to Improve. Coal Trade Remarkably Active—The Increase of Failures Continues.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says:

A better feeling grows in every direction; crop prospects improve, manufacturers are gaining confidence and dealers, no longer operating on a falling market, keenly appreciate the difference. It would be premature to assume that no setback will come, for in several directions the possibilities of an adverse change are obvious. The movement in foreign exchange may be significant. But the present state of business is clearly encouraging, larger in volume than a year ago, and growing more confident in tone.

Extensive crop reports within the past week strengthen the belief that the corn crop will be large, the oats crop large, the yield of wheat not below recent estimates, and the yield of cotton better than the trade has expected. Injury to corn proves really serious in some quarters, particularly in southern Kansas, but over the quarter part of the corn growing area the promise is remarkably good, and the chances of serious injury by frost lessen with every week that passes without harm. Oats have been seriously damaged also in some quarters, and yet the aggregate yield is likely to prove the largest on record. Texas reports ample rain and good reason to hope that the cotton yield may be from 1,500,000 to 1,700,000 bales, against 1,300,000 last year. From nearly all points reporting the improved outlook for farm products is noticed as a reason for revival in trade.

The iron trade does not brighten as was expected, though prices are a little stronger at Pittsburgh. About the entire output of Bessemer iron has been sold at Cleveland, and in eastern markets the pressure to sell southern iron is lessened, yet Tennessee No. 1 is still offered at $17.50. Philadelphia notes a lack of buoyancy. Bar iron continues irregular in price, and structural iron dull, and the outlook in steel rails is considered gloomy, quotations being $28.50 to $29 at the east, with sales at the west bringing only $31.25 at Duluth.

The coal trade is phenomenally active, and an advance in price is under consideration. For the first time in eight years leather dealers are no longer selling on a declining market, though steady prices with an active demand indicate healthy absence of speculation. In the wool trade also a better feeling is seen, with large sales at Boston and Philadelphia, and in some grades better prices. But manufacturers still move with much caution.

Reports from all parts of the country are more favorable, though dull or quiet trade is still noticed at many points. Improvement is more frequently reported. Money is firmer at many points with an increasing demand, but scarcely anywhere is there complaint of closeness, and collections do not seem to be more backward than is usual at this season. In the dry goods trade improvement is especially noted at Chicago, and here a full average business in cottons is in progress without somewhat more satisfactory movement in woollens, especially in men's wear goods of spring weights and in carpets.

The speculative markets have been variable, wheat rising six and a quarter cents, with sales of 80,000,000 bushels here, while oats have declined six cents, and corn has advanced one and a half cents, with sales of 6,000,000 bushels. The cotton has broken, and the price is seventy-five cents per one hundred pounds lower, with sales of 318,000 bales, while coffee is a quarter of a cent higher, with large dealings. Sugar is stronger, and oil has risen four and a half cents.

The rise in foreign exchange from $4.87 to $4.87 1/4 is spoken of as due to temporary causes. That is not clear. Exports do not improve, and the balance is heavily against this country; prices of exportable products advance rapidly; sales of securities on foreign account have already contributed to a reaction in the stock market, and it is not impossible that the president's message looking toward retaliation may incline some foreigners to withdraw capital or realize profits in the impression that international relations may be disturbed. Any considerable return of foreign capital placed here would tend strongly to change the outlook.

The treasury has been putting out money more freely, holding $3,100,000 less than a week ago, and the bank reserves at New York are still usually large. At the same time reports of an agreement on Thursday between the warring western roads, and the improving crop prospects, tend to help the market for stocks.

But the increase in the number of failures continues. For four weeks past the record covers 770 in the United States, against 602 last year. Business failures during the last seven days number for the United States 187; for Canada, 27; total, 214, as compared with 219 last week and 185 for the corresponding week of last year.

A Modern Wonder.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27.—The wonderful, historical and spectacular play, "The Fall of Babylon," attracts nearly as much attention from visitors as does the centennial exposition. It has been running over five weeks, and the magnitude of this production is overwhelming to the average visitor. When they see more than twelve hundred people, hundreds of horses, elephants, camels, donkeys, goats and dogs, cages of wild beasts, chariots of ancient warfare and all the paraphernalia of a grand army of olden time, their feelings are those of awe and admiration.

Brave Act of a Conductor.

AMESVILLE, O., Aug. 27.—Uriah Townsend, conductor on a construction train on the Marietta, Columbus & Northern railway, near Kilver, this county, saw a little three-year-old child sitting on the track. As it was impossible to stop or hardly check the engine, he sprang from the tender at the risk of his own life and saved the child. It was a very narrow escape for him.

THE WHITE CAPS' WARNING.

Homer Davis Given Notice Not to Appear Against Them.

TIPTON, Ind., Aug. 27.—Deputy Prosecutor Walter Mount has in his possession a letter, written as a warning to Homer Davis, who was recently outrageously whipped by the so-called regulators:

"At a meeting of the White Caps we decided to notify you never to appear against the parties you have filed affidavits against, for they are innocent of whipping you, or having any hand in it, and we don't propose they shall suffer for any thing they are not guilty of. We learned from White Caps who visited Tipton the other day, who you filed against, and therefore we know who they are and don't propose they shall suffer."

"You know why we whipped you. It was for stealing, not working the roads, laziness, and applying for help from the township, trying to live off the taxpayers without working. You promised to leave Tipton county and never come back. You have lied, and now we warn you never to appear in Tipton on day of trial, or any of your friends. If you do we will whip every inch of hide off of your d—n back, and if that don't do we can stretch your d—n neck, and we will get you no matter where you go. We warn you never to let any one of us to see you in Tipton county. We will whip you every time we catch you in the county."

"This is our advice to you. You can take it or you can take the advice of your friends, lawyers, doctors, etc., but we mean business and expect to do business, and the d—d lawyers can't help themselves. You can't live in the state in Indiana and appear against innocent parties. The White Caps are organized all over the state, and are watching you down. It was none of your near neighbors who whipped you—not one of them had any hand in it, and don't you molest any of them or we will hang you to the first tree in sight."

"By the order of the Captain of the One Hundred White Caps."

"SYLBIUS RHODAMANTHUS, Secretary."

This warning was attached to the fence of Homer Davis immediately after he had filed affidavits against Murray and Essex. Notwithstanding the warning from the White Caps, Davis appeared against the men and is yet at his home east of this place. It remains to be seen whether they will carry out their dreadful promise.

AUSTRALIA.

Her Growth in the Past Century Has Been Remarkable.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 27.—The success of the Melbourne centennial exposition far surpasses the most sanguine anticipations of its promoters, the exhibition being crowded daily by thousands of interested visitors. The successful completion of this undertaking suggests a somewhat marvelous historical retrospect. It was not till well into the seventeenth century that any definite contact was had by Europeans with Australia. It was in 1688 that Dampier, the famous English buccaner, first visited the north-west coast of Australia.

Nearly a century later Capt. Cook examined the southeastern and eastern shores, and on his return to England his account of the country induced the English government to send out a batch of convicts under Capt. Arthur Phillip, of the royal navy. On January 26, 1788, a few days after his arrival in Port Jackson, Capt. Phillip proclaimed British supremacy in Australia. His settlement consisted of some six hundred males and two hundred female convicts. In every respect the career of Australia opened darkly, and few finer illustrations could be found anywhere of the text that out of evil cometh good than the position she holds today. It now has a population of 3,500,000. The transportation of convicts was abolished in 1853, and it has since become one of the wealthiest dependencies of the empire.

A Duel With Hammers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A duel with hammers was fought in Robert Boulanger's blacksmith shop, Senecaus, North Hudson, early Friday morning, which will result probably in the death of one of the combatants. John Vetter and Jacob Schmitt, who work for Boulanger, became involved in a political discussion and from words came to blows. Small hammers were seized, and Schmitt secured first blood by laying open Vetter's scalp several inches. Vetter retaliated by breaking his opponent's nose. Schmitt countered on the cheek and cut it badly. Finally Schmitt received a terrific blow on the head which felled him. Vetter had his injuries dressed by Dr. Schlemm and then came to this city, where he is hiding. Schmitt's skull was found to be fractured, and it is thought he will die.

Father Shedy's Project.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—Father Shedy, of "Our Lady of Mercy," has leased four unoccupied rooms in the First ward public school, and they will be opened Monday week as a parochial school. This move has caused some excitement, and it bids fair to meet with as much opposition as the recent attempt to introduce sisters of charity as teachers in one of the South Side public schools. The First ward is largely composed of Catholics, and the action of the board in leasing the rooms was unanimous.

How Laboring Men prospered Under Democratic Legislation.

Under the Walker tariff of 1846, a Democratic law, the poor man paid the same per centage of tax and had the same chance as the rich; the consequence was the laborers of the country were happy, prosperous and contented. Their expenses were not so heavy; they had means to purchase the comforts of life, and thus created a demand for the products of our manufacturing establishments. This in turn created a demand for labor, which was followed by an increase in the price of labor. The result of all this was an infusion of life into all the avenues of trade and into the various industries and was followed by an era of great prosperity.

But later on the Republican party contrived to place from three to five times as much tax on the necessities of life and cheap articles used by the poor, as upon the luxuries and fine articles purchased only by the rich and prosperous. Not satisfied with taxing the poor man's blanket by the pound, they at once taxed it by the square yard. By this character of taxation they destroyed all the prosperity brought about by the Democratic legislation and we are now living under laws that make the rich man richer and keep laboring men from the possibility of accumulation. The tariff laws enacted since the repeal, in 1861, of the Democratic tariffs of 1846 and 1857 inflict the grossest hardship and injustice upon the laboring and the poorer classes.

A Blot Upon Our Boasted Progress.

The policy of the Republican party for the past twenty years has had the effect to drive the workingman of America to such extremities that he has been forced to put every member of his family to work in order to earn enough to keep them alive. Referring to the last census, outside of mature male labor there were employed in the various industries of this country, 531,783 females over the age of fifteen years and 181,918 children under that age. We no doubt voice the sentiments of all humane people when we say in the words of the Massachusetts Federation of Trades:

The enterprise which depends for its success upon the work of children whose palates have not yet lost the flavor of their mother's milk is a blot upon our boasted progress and a crime against humanity. Civilization does not demand the sacrifice of the human family upon the altar of greed nor does it admit that man is created as a part of the machinery of commerce.

When the laws are changed as the Democrats propose, and it is possible for labor to receive its just reward, the workingmen will have the right and the ability to keep their wives and children at home.

Mr. Morton as an Importer of Contract Labor.

We are not in favor of buying the goods that England makes while our own workmen are standing idle on the street corners.—Republican.

Well, if you are not in favor of that, your candidate for Vice President is. He treats labor, and you all do, as a purchasable commodity, and goes into the free trade market of England and buys it. He lately bought a gardener and two dairy maids there. Here is what Arthur F. Curtis, a reporter for the New York Star, tells the Congressional Committee on Immigrant Abuses:

I learned that a gardener named Forbes was brought to this country under contract by Mr. Levi P. Morton and I investigated it. Mr. McCrear, whom I met, told me that his two sisters were brought to this country under contract by Mr. Morton to work as dairymaids. They only came after receiving a number of dairymaids and telegrams from Mr. Morton, and went to work at his home in Rhinebeck. I learned of a man named Forbes, who worked as a gardener for Mr. Morton, having come to this country under contract to receive $30 to $35 a month.

Now here is your candidate for Vice President going abroad to buy him a gardener and two dairymaids here we have both gardeners and dairymaids here struggling to make a living. If it is not the policy of your party to buy goods in England while our own workmen are standing idle on the street corners, why does one of your political leaders do it?

UNDER the alleged blessings of the Republican protective tariff the laborer is like the kernel of wheat between the upper and the lower millstone; in any case he is certain to be ground. He produces all the wealth while the men who produce nothing have all the wealth.

CONGRESSMAN THOMAS passed through town Saturday on his way home from Washington City.

NATURE'S FRIENDSHIPS.

THE STATE OF WAR NOT SO BAD AS WE IMAGINE.

Animals' Dread of Human Beings—Our Slaughter of Birds and Beasts—Grief of Pets at Losing a Friend—Natural Antipathies.

There is a deal of love killed out or prevented from manifesting itself. This is true not only among human beings, but between men and animals and birds, and even insects. The state of war that is in existence in nature is not by half as bad as we imagine. The worst half is caused by our own selfish interference. On wild islands, when first visited by men, it is always reported that fowls and birds are so tame that they permit the approach of any one without the idea of fear. But this they soon lose. The same is true of seals and animals that have not been hunted. But there grows up rapidly a dread of man, so that the scent of a human being to an antelope, elk or buffalo is most abhorrent. This becomes an inherited trait. Man, after all, is the great destroyer that is dreaded in all the realms of nature. The feline tribes rank next to him, together with wolves, hawks and serpents. This is not a pleasant fact to consider, but it is sadder of all that it is a fact.

Nor does this begin to tell the full truth. It is not wild animals alone that dread us, but as a rule there is little love for us among tame animals, the dog excepted. The cat has an occasional friend, but is compelled for the most part to live on the defensive. Some races, like the Bedouins, live on terms of familiarity with their horses and camels. These exceptions show the possible friendship. In a Quaker barnyard I have seen such a rule of love that every animal was a conscious friend. It is only because of our brutality, or indifference, that our animals are not our lovers. Cows are by no means "boiled faced creatures" when gently handled. Trained up as pets, they become affectionate to a degree surpassed only by dogs. I have owned a horse that never allowed me to approach without placing her head affectionately across my shoulder or her nose in my bosom.

I cannot think without anger of the slaughter of birds and animals for no possible reason but sport. The birds would "take to us" freely, if they dared; and, as it is, a few have managed to break down prejudice. The friendship between mankind and robins I can hardly comprehend, for this bird is far less valuable than some others, and is also less beautiful. A writer in Vick's Magazine relates how she formed a friendship with a hummingbird. "I have had one brief little friendship with a bird during the present summer which seems like a tender dream, a fleeting glimpse into an unknown land, a peep into fairyland." She had come upon a tiny young hummingbird that had been chilled by a cool night, and, picking him up, had warmed and fed him. He grew so tame that "when he was hungry he would fly down to me from top of a picture, and, alighting on a twig in my fingers, would sit and sip his sugar and water from a teaspoon or the end of my finger. These drops would satisfy him," and then off he flew. "He delighted to be held over a large spoonful of soft water, and dip in his beak and splash water over his little body."

There is no reason why this gentle accord may not be established on all hands. Prisoners, as we know, have formed curious attachments for crickets and spiders, and thus saved themselves from loss of reason during solitary confinement. Nor, even in such cases, is the friendship altogether on one side. Foxes, dogs, cats, horses, have been known to die for grief over the death of a special friend. I have seen manifestations of intense grief in several cases. The cat is capable of peculiarly strong attachments. I have known one to be inconsolable for many weeks after the departure of a boy to whom he specially devoted himself.

Natural antipathies form the other side of this question and the illustrations are all about. A stray dog came to my place last summer. He laid himself flat on his belly as I approached, only moving his eyes with the most intent watchfulness. I drew nearer, not a motion, but he drew still flatter to the soil. He was offering his services. Would I accept him? He was a beautiful cross of shepherd and hunter. I said, "Yes, you may stay." He knew in a moment the purport of my words. Leaping up, he came with eyes full of gladness and took my scent, and at once was a member of my household. But the friendship was ever first of all for myself.

Now came the question of cat and dog, for I had a splendid cat that had had no dogs about to annoy him. Here was the natural antagonism of the feline and canine races. But "Shep" understood perfectly that he was an adopted resident, and must not crowd his acquaintance. They could not become quite friends, but learned to tolerate each other. What is this natural antipathy? Traced far enough back, the ancestry of the felines and canines come out of a common stock. But these terrible clawing creatures have been outlawed from time immemorial. To bite is allowable in the animal code; but to scratch, that is an innovation and indecent. We have codes that allow bullies to pound and kick, but they must not scratch. It is easy to imagine how the first that took to using their nails were driven out of the tribe. I believe the genuine ancestry to be canine; the feline is a spurious offshoot.

There are intense hatreds, as we well know, between birds. Not one of them will form an alliance with the English sparrow. So far as I have observed the blackbird has no friends and does not care for any. He works in troops, steals in companies, and has his bill against all other sorts of birds, and is detested in turn. An owl is a lonely creature, only that it is said occasionally to make a pet of a snake instead of eating it, which I doubt. The friendship is probably like that of prairie dogs and rattlesnakes—an invasion of snakes that can not be prevented. The owl may not be able to digest some of his saurian acquaintances. As a rule there is some one, or two, members of a household, that had better let the domestic cat alone—sometimes also the dog or dogs. Why these are not liked by the animals I do not know, unless it be something in the scent. Horses have strong antipathies to certain grooms, based, I should judge, at least in part, on smell.—"E. P. F." in Globe Democrat.

As Long as Possible.

"See here, my friend," said a farmer to a tramp, "you've been lyin' in the shade of that fence fer over thirteen hours. Ain't it 'bout time to move on?" "If you say so," replied the tramp, struggle to his feet, "I s'pose it is. I'm only tryin' to make my shoes last as long as possible."—Time.

LOVE SONG.

Sweetheart, life's drifting by,
 Casting chances on the shore;
 What is there that you and I
 Fain would gather for our store?
 Chance is gold, but gold unmined,
 We must labor for the ore—
 Only he who works will find
 Precious treasure at his door.

Little sweetheart, stand up strong,
 Gird the armor on your knight;
 Sing your most inspiring song,
 Flame aloft Love's cheering light.

There are battles to be fought,
 There are victories to be won,
 Righteous labors to be wrought,
 Valiant races to be run;
 Grievous wrongs to be retrieved,
 Right and justice to be done;
 Glorious aims to be achieved—
 Heaven on earth to be begun.

Little sweetheart, stand up strong,
 Gird the armor on your knight;
 Smile your bravest, sing your song,
 Speak your word for truth and right.

—Annie L. Muzzey in Frank Leslie's.

Quite to Her Satisfaction.

During a recent trip of the city of San Antonio, of the Mallory line, from New York to Ferdinandina, an old lady passenger, who was hard to please, and who grumbled at everything and everybody about the ship, said to Capt. Wilder at the breakfast table just before reaching port:

"After all, captain, there's one thing that is really good on this ship, and when I say a thing's good, I mean it. Never saw better anywhere."

"Glad to hear you say so, madam," replied the gallant captain. "We always try to make things pleasant and comfortable for our guests. But what is there on this ship you admire so much?"

"The salt," replied the old lady.—Florida Republican.

Freight Car Carrying Capacity.

An increase in freight car carrying capacity from ten to twenty tons nominal load has been accomplished within the last decade. Freight cars, as now built, are intended to carry twice their weight in load, while for a number of years before the increase was made the weight of the possible load was generally assumed as that of the box car in which it was carried. The narrow gauge movement, though not successful in changing the standard width of American railroads, served, we think, a useful purpose in calling attention to the relations between dead and paying weight, with the result, as stated, of increasing the relative load carried.—Railway Review.

A Large Pair of Shoes.

A shoemaker, of Atlanta, Ga., has just finished the largest pair of shoes ever made for actual use. It took a piece of leather containing 1,040 square inches to make the uppers, and 1,900 to make the soles. That is 3,000 square inches altogether. If that leather were cut into strips an eighth of an inch wide and made into one long string, the string would be 24,000 inches long. The shoes weigh eight and one-quarter pounds. The soles are fourteen inches long, 5½ wide and 8¾ inches deep. That doesn't count the heel, which would add another inch to the depth.—Chicago Herald.

Forcing the Issue.

A brush street boy with a piece of black cloth on his hat was playing in front of the house the other day when a man stopped and inquired:

"Are you in mourning, bub?"

"Yes, sir."

"Father or mother?"

"Neither one."

"Oh, it's a brother or sister?"

"No, sir. I've put it on to see if grandpa won't die and give us a rest.—Detroit Free Press.

THE FAIR AND RACES.

Large Crowd Present to Witness the Closing Events of a Successful Meeting.

List of the Premiums Awarded and Summary of Saturday's Races.

The Maysville fair closed Saturday, and it can be put down as a success in every respect. The attendance throughout was excellent—better in fact than at the meeting one year ago, when the crowds present were the largest ever on the grounds up to that time. The management could not have desired more pleasant weather, the exhibitions in the arena were splendid, and the racing proved as exciting as any ever witnessed on the track.

The attendance Saturday was fully up to that on Thursday and Friday. The spacious amphitheater was crowded. In the arena there was a fine exhibition of horses in the harness and roadster classes. Messrs. A. W. Thompson, John Clift and M. F. Fleming were the directors for the day. Following is a list of the premiums awarded:

Harness gelding, 4 years old and over; J. C. Owens, Maysville, $20.
Harness gelding, 3 years and under 4; Bayless & Turney, Paris, $15.
Harness gelding, 2 years and under 3, by H. Burdick, Cincinnati, O.; Dr. C. C. Owens, Maysville, $10.
Roadster mares, 4 years old and over; James W. Fitzgerald, Maysville, $20.
Roadster mares, 3 years and under, age to be considered; C. L. Hill, Sharpsburg, $20.

Coach team; Bayless & Turney, Paris, $20.
Pair roadsters; A. H. Simonds, St. Paul, $20.
Gentleman equestrian; R. H. Wills, Cincinnati, $20.

There were three races on the programme, and in two of the classes the contests were as close and exciting as any of the week. In the 2:35 trot, Mary Anderson won over five competitors. In the 2:30 class, Fitzgerald's handsome black stallion Alcandre trotted his first race this season, and won easily over Turk and Linnette. Alcandre has had but little training this year, having recently quit the stud, and many were surprised at the time he made. The last heat was the fastest, showing that his staying qualities are of the best. The Cincinnati tobacco stakes were won by Abbie V., who distanced her competitors in the second heat.

WILLIAM WORMALD.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Board of Education Determined to Make Them Equal to Any in the Country.

It is gratifying to observe the great interest which is being taken by the citizens of Maysville in the improvement of their public schools. Our intelligent and energetic school board have seen the importance of raising the standard of instruction in all the schools, from the highest to the lowest, and they seem determined that no effort shall be wanting to make the public schools of this city equal, in point of the advantages offered, to those of any in the country. Systematic methods will be adopted in the primary grades and carried regularly through the several departments to the High School, where an extensive course of study has been laid out, embracing all those subjects included in a regular academic education.

In addition to these branches, opportunity will be offered to all pupils, male or female, to study German and music, vocal and instrumental, under the instruction of Prof. J. H. Kappes, who has, at the same time, been engaged to superintend all the city schools. From the known ability and experience of this gentleman, it is believed this part of the work will be well and thoroughly done.

German will be taught according to the natural method, whereby the pupil will learn to speak, read and write the language from the very first lesson. Young men will thus be able to acquire such a practical knowledge of the German language as will be of incalculable benefit to them in subsequent business life.

Instruction in music will be given according to the method which obtains in the best conservatories of Europe and the United States. Theoretical and practical training will be united.

No labored dissertation is necessary to show the importance of good public schools in raising the standard of morality and intelligence in any community. They must be liberally supported by rich and poor, in order to secure "the greatest good to the greatest number."

The youth of Maysville will no longer need to leave their own city in order to gain the advantages of a solid and ornamental education. Maysville should be the educational center for Mason and the adjoining counties. Some thirty-five or forty thousand dollars have been annually sent away from this county for the purpose of educating our young people in other places; let this amount now be kept at home and expended in the employment of highly qualified teachers and in the purchase of good books, school apparatus, etc. The present outlook is decidedly favorable, and every individual who desires to promote the best welfare of this city, should lend a helping hand.

A Big Loss to the Bridge Contractors at Covington.

The false work of the channel span of the Huntington bridge at Cincinnati was carried away at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning by the high water and drift. The contractors made every effort, expending several thousand dollars, to save the structure, but their efforts were futile. The damage is estimated at $100,000 by the Enquirer, and the loss will cause a serious delay in the work on the bridge.

THE CZAR AND WILLIAM.

THEIR ACTIONS ALARM THE POLITICIANS OF ENGLAND.

Boulanger Considered a Harmless Creature by the Iron Chancellor—News From the Expedition in Search of Stanley—Various Other Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The excessive courtesies passing between the czar and Emperor William respecting "The Beautiful Days of Peterhof" have alarmed English politicians of all classes. Those few English statesmen who have made foreign affairs a close study for years say there was very little reason for the recent optimistic declaration of Lord Salisbury in his survey of foreign politics, and with all due deference that it is not the function of an English minister to echo the sentiments of Prince Bismarck. In an interview, a leading Liberal, who has been mentioned as the only statesman in that party fitted for the foreign secretaryship in the event of Mr. Gladstone's return to power, said:

"English interest and German interest do not always coincide by any means. All the world knows, that if not merely an English interest, but the interest of the whole human race outside of Germany lay on one side of Prince Bismarck's balance, and a purely German interest on the other, the former would kick the beam. Prince Bismarck has told the world over and over again that his business in the welfare of Germany, of course as he conceives it, and that alone, and if Lord Salisbury cheerfully illusions, it is his own fault.

"Lord Salisbury was delighted because the young German emperor visited the czar, and apparently believes that the policy of Russia has been brought into line with that of Germany, that Russia has actually joined the peace league, which was in truth directed against herself, and that the millennium was on the way. But Lord Salisbury forgets that Bulgaria is not the only possible field for Russian enterprise and that Germany not only has no interest in holding back Russia in central Asia, but on the contrary ever interested in pushing her forward. The bottom fact of the situation is that Russia must and will get to the sea, and south somewhere and somehow.

"It may take years for her to do it, but it is a vital question for a nation of 70,000,000 of people. It would be over sanguine to expect that that mighty impulse can be permanently resisted. Anyhow the question is, who is to resist it? who is to bear the brunt? The Germans have long ago come to the conclusion that it shall not be Germany if they can help it. They have done their best—their newspapers and military writers are always at it—to make Englishmen believe that England has the paramount interest in resisting Russian attacks upon Constantinople. Englishmen are, however, coming to see that that question, through most indifferent to them, concerns Austria and through Austria Germany, a good deal more closely, and that in fact England need not greatly trouble herself about Constantinople.

"Russia will have to beat Austria and Germany first and it will probably take a long time to do that. But Constantinople is not the only point at which Russia can gain a footing on a southern sea. There is the Persian gulf; there is the coast of Beloochistan; there is the southern coast of Asia Minor and there is India. The Russian empire in central Asia is a great fact, the bearing of which Englishmen are only beginning to understand. For the present it is enough to say that for boundless extent, variety of climate, and natural resources its southern part is another United States, and it will not be long before the vast portion of the earth's surface between the mouth of the Oxus and the mouth of the Amoor will be populated by some hundred millions of men.

"It is even possible that this vast empire may have already made its adequate impression on the Russian mind and that Bokhara and Tamarand may have already done something to dethrone Constantinople. The Germans hail with joy this diversion of Russia from Europe to Asia. Their newspapers tell us with charming frankness that if the result should be to bring Russia and England into collision over India, the Germans could be not merely indifferent but pleased, and who can blame them?"

Considers Boulanger Harmless.
BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Bismarck's organ, the North German Gazette, in commenting upon the electoral successes of Gen. Boulanger, corrects the impression which prevails that the German government regards his aspirations with alarm. It says that Boulanger has frequently declared his peaceful intentions in regard to Germany, and should his influence increase, he would hardly risk any high position he might obtain on the chances of war. With the feeling now existing in France there is not, and cannot be, any French government repressing to Germany completely. Boulanger does not disquiet us any more than any one else. If he succeeds in establishing tranquillity in France his successes will be welcomed in Germany and in the whole of Europe.

This mild statement is really a cruel blow at the brave general, for it is well known that as war minister he was the personification of revenge, and that his present notoriety is due to playing the role of Germany's Nemesis. Had he not been regarded as the man who was to wrest Alsace-Lorraine once more from Germany he would have been today comparatively unknown. The warlike aspiration of France is really Boulanger's coach-and-six, and to represent him as decidedly peaceably disposed is to toss him into the mud.

Crispi and Kalnoky Will Consult.
VIENNA, Aug. 27.—Count Kalnoky will have an interview with Signor Crispi Eger to-day. The main purpose of the interview can be guessed. Count Kalnoky will doubtless earnestly dissuade Signor Crispi from any further prosecution of Italian designs on Abyssinia, since it jeopardizes Austrian interests in the east, by making Russia the "champion of Turkey's claim to sovereignty on both shores of the Red sea. Now the policies of Austria and Turkey are identical, to-wit: The integrity of Turkish territory and the exclusion of Russia from the Balkans. It is important that Russian prestige at Constantinople should not be encouraged or Austrian prestige weakened by the action of her ally.

Bartlett's Expedition.
LONDON, Aug. 27.—Dispatches from St. Paul de Leanda, on Wednesday, state that Bartlett's expedition in search of Stanley is composed of 140 carriers and one hundred soldiers, recruited by Tippoo Tib. Three whites, Rose, Troupet and Samesson, accompany Bartlett, Samesson heading the advance. Bartlett proposes to trace Stanley step by step. The force is heavily laden with supplies, and advances slowly. At the end of June news reached Camp Tambanga that the first stages of Bartlett's march were well over, but no information from Stanley was received.

FIFTY MEN KILLED.

The Excellent Marksmanship of a Spaniard Prevents a Bloody Massacre.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A Herald special from San Francisco gives additional details concerning the killing of fifty natives in the village of Antique, China, by one Spaniard, a report of which has been received by the steamer Oceanic. It seems that the only white men in the village are two Spaniards, one of whom is a priest. There has been bad feeling between the natives and the Spaniards for some time, and recently an attack was made upon the priest. The other Spaniard took his rifle and cartridges and hastened to the rescue of the priest. He found the latter's dwelling surrounded by a black mob howling for blood, and he opened fire on the crowd. He picked out the biggest and foremost men, and shot them down one by one. When he had used up fifty cartridges fifty blacks lay before him.

The natives, awe-stricken, fled in terror, crying that the Spaniard was assisted by the evil one, and that he had a gun that could shoot forever without reloading. It is believed that had it not been for the marksmanship and nerve displayed in this case the natives of the neighboring provinces would have risen and massacred the Europeans living there.

FOR OLD PEOPLE!

In old people the nervous system is weakened, and that must be strengthened. One of the most prominent medical writers of the day, in speaking of the prevalence of rheumatic troubles among the aged, says: "The various pains, rheumatic or other, which old people often complain of, and which materially disturb their comfort, result from disordered nerves." There it is in a nutshell—the medicine for old people must be a nerve tonic. Old people are beset with constipation, flatulency, drowsiness, diarrhoea, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia. These diseases are of nervous origin. Paine's Celery Compound, that great nerve tonic, is almost a specific in these disorders, and by its regulating influence on the liver, bowels, and kidneys, removes the disorders peculiar to old age. Old people find it stimulating to the vital powers, productive of appetite, and a promoter of digestion.

Sold by druggists, $1.00. Six for $5.00. Send for eight-page paper, with many testimonials from nervous, debilitated, and aged people, who bless Paine's Celery Compound.
